WE WELCOME THE STEEL PLANT

The coming of the steel plant will be a big benefit to the school and will assist the Student Body in the carrying out of its activities. The students will not necessarily mingle with the labor element that will be imported. We live more or less to ourselves, and do not mix to any great extent with the town people at the present time. Few of the students attend the town dances, and the larger percentage never become acquainted extensively outside of the college circle. The student organization and the clubs within the school furnish social "entertainment" of the highest type—more than the average student gets to attend.

The advantage to the chemistry department of having a large steel plant in this vicinity, to which its students can go to get first hand information, is invaluable. How much more easily the student will be able to understand the different processes employed in the manufacture of steel by seeing the process in application. There will probably be as many as a dozen or more products manufactured from the products of the coke ovens—all the processes of which represent a chemical change of interest to the student of exact science.

The steel plant will create a demand for university trained men. The industry will need clerks, managers, engineers, and chemists, all of whom the University can supply.

A bigger Provo, which will result from the coming of the steel industry will mean more support for the student activities. The publications are looking forward to a day when it will be easier for them to continue advertising to pay the entire cost of printing. This will be feasible when Provo becomes the Pittsburgh of the West. More people will attend our athletic games and more commercial interests will be interested in this situation.

The promoters of the stadium project are planning to raise considerable of the initial cost of construction from gate receipts. This will not be feasible unless more people come to Provo.

No class of students will receive more immediate benefit from the establishment of the steel industry than those who have to work on the side while attending college. With increase in Provo's business and revenues will be opened up through which students can find employment. The labor will need more clerks and the stores more salesmen; there will be many other business houses which will employ students who wish to work a few hours each day "on the side."

From every viewpoint the coming of the steel and associated industries will mean much to the student body of the universities, and we welcome all of these industries to Provo and Utah county.

AT THE GAME

There were several features of the game last Friday and Saturday nights that are worth remembering.

In the first place, the "Y" warriors put all they had into the battle both nights. It was not because they were cupped or because they were "steep on the job" that they lost the first game, but it was pure luck—the "jinx" failed to rise. Although this loss noised them out of the state race, the Youngsters fought just as hard or a little harder the second night. It was then that the "hoodoo" lifted and they showed what they were really capable of doing.

Another thing was the solid support given by the student body. At the signal of the yell leaders the old gym would shake from its foundation alone. That same support was not lacking one degree the second night either. The students came back with the team and helped to achieve the victory.

The university band did its part in injecting "jazz" into every moment. It would have been impossible to have done without the band and was a student body who would appreciate its assistance and thank Professor and the band members for their splendid work.

Last but by no means least the students were real sports. Probably for the first time in the history of the state schools a foreign college song was sung by the entire student body in our own gymnasium. Such a thing is seldom done, but it will help to make a greater friendship among the schools. This courtesy should not be forgotten but it should become a practice of the "Y" that every time she meets a visitor in her own gym the student body sing the visiting team's song. It cannot be forgotten or overlooked by our visitors.

WHEN FORCE IS NEEDED

A great teacher once said that if all people were blessed with enough brains to know how to use what brains they did have, there would be no need for law. The primary purpose of law is to guide the subnormal along the road of social progress. The law of the year a mandate was sent out that all those who would be compelled to attend divorces, a great cry was heard. Forcing people to do anything which was evidently for their own good was detracting from their intelligence. Nevertheless, the law remained in effect and college was crowded to its utmost capacity. The divorce experiment was tried out. The ships were not tossed out at the door, but they were allowed to use their free agency and display their vanity. The divorce experiment was a series of empty seats. The dislike of a forced doing was proved to be merely an excuse to hide the real reason. Those who seem to have suddenly found that they have pressing engagements and need more time for private instruction along certain lines. Force groups of subnormals who neither care their own advancement nor for the general welfare of the student body.

There still she gets it to go at it the old hand. Just rest your age! When after her chin and give your husband a little to her, and tip your hat to begin to tickle you in the neck, and then push your face right into her hair till she holds, "Oh a again, I want some more," then kiss her again and then her good and don't let her get away. Put your whole heart into the work if she starts to kick, and say, "mama says you mustn't," keep right on that, only a shaft on her ear, then the love to give and take it as well as you do. Don't choke her, she'll be all right. Always remember you're not in a hurry to get married, but you are in a hurry to get married. Always remember your duty, and keep whispering soft, many things to her till she begins to pull her hair, then kiss her again, give her a good long, lingering kiss, and then she'll smile in your face and she'll put her arms up around your neck and whisper in your ear. "You'll never lose me, Charley, and then you'll know you've made a hit. She'll come and nest you every night after that, whether her father sees you or not. Always remember, when she gets it, and she's not going to lose any of it, either, I'll tell you that."

Lord Dabbington was instructing the new colored servant in his duties, saying, "Now Zerk, when I ring for you, you must answer by saying, 'My Lord, what will you have?'"

A new hour afterwards, having occasion to summon the servant, his majesty was accompanied with the following:

"My Gawd, what does you want now?"

He told his face against her face. She seemed too proud to speak, but he said the bluest eye.

"Young man, I like your cheek!"

Sweet Young Thing—Where is that new first lesson is talking about?

My—What you mean?

Sweet Young Thing—Why, haven't you heard? Edna Ma Pi.

"He'll be late," said the preacher as he gazed on the chosen girl.

Attempt Student Accommodations

Because of the rapidly increasing enrollment at the Brigham Young University, it will be found necessary to arrange new facilities for the accommodation of the greater number of students. A new library and gymnasium are badly needed, as also are laboratory and class room buildings. There is a possibility of making art rooms in the top floor of the education building, and of raising the shop one story for the housing of a department of applied sciences. Land has been purchased for the establishment of a playground for the children of the training school. A full line of modern equipment is soon to be purchased. This is already being laid. The money for the equipment has been raised by the R. Y. U. Women's organization and several of the classes.

Nelson's Students Give Piano Recital

The piano recital by the pupils of Elmer Nelson, held in College Hall, Wednesday evening, was thoroughly enjoyed by a large audience. The concert was assisted by William Knudsen, baritone soloist. Professor Nelson announced that the primary purpose of the recital was to give the students an opportunity to appear before an audience. The technique of the operation of the piano was shown by the wonderful concert given, produced after much work in preparation. The solo work of all the players was commendable. The singing of the choir was especially enjoyed. The use and appreciation, expressed by the audience proved the interest in such affairs, and more are expected.

Sarg's Marionettes "Bring 'Don Quixote'"

The presentation of "Don Quixote" by Sarg's marionettes at College Hall on March 2nd should be a most interesting performance. The play is taken from the story of the knight with the great Spanish virtues, Cervantes, and the author, Cervantes, is a knight errant. The hero, "Don Quixote," is a knight errant, goes out in search of adventure, and realizes his ambition to be his heart's content. In his ideal, he even attacks the windmills of the country and finds them more than a match for his hero. Such scenes, through the illusion of a marionette performance, are capable of most realistic presentation than if real men and women actors were on the stage. Professor Pedcoe is to be congratulated on bringing the marionettes to the city again.

FROM THE ART GALLERY

Professor R. F. Lasso, talked to the Art Appreciation class Wednesday concerning some of the marvelous finds that have been made recently. In the excavation of the new found burial place of Tan-Anah, among some of the best examples of Egyptian art have been brought to light. Critics say this work dates back thirty centuries, to the time Egypt is her greatest grandeur and power. These things have remained in such a wonderful state of preservation that traces of green color still be seen in the funeral foliage. Many of the figures are so frail that they lie to powder when touched and yet the pigments used in them are so good that they still retain their exquisite coloring. Numerous pictures of the scenes of the tomb of Tan-Anah, among the best of the photographs there is an image of the king that has stood 3000 years guarding the inner sanctuary of his resting place.

Y COLUMBIA TO SHOW PAPER

In appreciating the value of a modern and much up to the minute attraction the public is apt to become too casual or enthusiastic with the result that they have been less likely to come to town and fail to live up to all the good things said about it. A complete injury is done, not alone to the particular offering but those that might follow. However, in this specific instance, or regarding the "Father on His Vacation" show, the Y is presenting exceptional things. The "FATHER ON HIS VACATION" as the title suggests, is based on the famous George McManus cartoon. The "FATHER" is a man of the age again whose beloved characters who are known far and wide and the breath of the entire land will appear in its flesh. They include, of course, Jiggs McManus, "Father" Magpie, etc. etc. Dirty, Jiggs, the uncle and the rest of the McManus clan. This thing has his own problem to solve. What is that problem? Well, Jiggs finds he has been "the man of the hour" enough and like the proverbial women completely tamed. From all accounts this latest farce with music is the best that has come this year in seasons and no doubt will enjoy a vogue comparable if not better than all the previous "Father" acts.
